

Contents

Acknowledgements .....	xi
Abbreviations .....	xiii
 Chapter 1. Background to and Purpose of the Study .....	 1
1 Introduction .....	1
2 The Classical Perception of Civil-Political Rights and Socio-Economic Rights .....	5
3 Indivisibility as Protection of Socio-Economic Demands Under the ECHR .....	9
 Chapter 2. Typological and Terminological Considerations .....	 13
1 Introductory Remarks .....	13
2 Trichotomies or Waves of Duties? .....	14
2.1 The Tripartite Typology .....	14
2.2 Critical Considerations on the Tripartite Typology .....	17
2.3 The Applicability of the Tripartite Typology to All Human Rights .....	20
2.4 The Terminology of the ECtHR .....	21
2.5 Successive Waves of Duties? .....	25
 Chapter 3. Considerations on Intertextuality and Permeability .....	 29
1 Introductory Remarks .....	29
2 The Intertextuality of the Two Sets of Rights .....	30
3 The Permeability of Human Rights Norms .....	32
4 A Possible Theory for Understanding the Notion of Indivisibility and the Integrated Approach .....	37
 Chapter 4. Theoretical and Methodological Considerations .....	 39
1 Initial Remarks .....	39
2 The Hermeneutic Circle .....	41
3 About Pre-Understanding .....	45
4 The Horizontal Structure of the Hermeneutic Circle .....	51
5 The Vertical Structure of the Hermeneutic Circle .....	53

6 The Added Value of Hermeneutics .....	56	7.3 Margin of Appreciation – Article 8 and Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 .....	146
7 Methodological Considerations .....	57	8 Future Prospects .....	147
Chapter 5. The Right to Health Under the ECHR .....	59	Chapter 7. The Right to Education Under the ECHR .....	149
1 Health as a Cross-Cutting Issue .....	59	1 Education as a Cross-Cutting Issue .....	149
2 The Right to Health Under the ECHR .....	60	2 The Right to Education in Three Generations .....	150
2.1 Relevant Provisions .....	60	3 The Right to Education Under the ECHR .....	151
2.2 A General ‘Positive Right’ to Treatment and Care .....	61	3.1 Relevant Provisions .....	151
2.3 Environmental Health – Striking a Fair Balance .....	66	3.2 Positive Rights to Primary Education Under Article 2 of Protocol No. 1 .....	153
2.4 Deprivation of Liberty for Purposes of Treatment – Rights and Duties .....	74	3.2.1 Article 2 of Protocol No. 1 and Other Provisions on the Right to Education .....	153
2.4.1 A Right to Compulsory Treatment? .....	74	3.2.2 The Travaux Préparatoire to Article 2 of Protocol No. 1 .....	155
2.4.2 The Choice Between Article 5 (1)(a) and Article 5 (1)(e) .....	83	3.2.3 Case Law Under Article 2 of Protocol No. 1 .....	158
2.4.3 Forward-Looking Observations on Deprivation of Liberty for Purposes of Treatment .....	87	3.2.4 Compulsory Education Free of Charge .....	171
2.5 Health Conditions in Prisons .....	90	3.2.5 Case Law Under Article 5 (1) (e) – Rights and Duties.....	174
2.5.1 General Prison Conditions .....	90	4 Future Prospects .....	177
2.5.2 Prisoners with Special Needs .....	94	Chapter 8. The Right to Social Cash Benefits Under the ECHR.....	179
2.6 Protection of Neglected Children .....	102	1 The Right to Social Cash Benefits as a Cross-Cutting Issue.....	179
2.7 Information, Professional Secrecy and Freedom of Expression in Health Issues .....	107	2 The Relevant Provisions.....	180
3 Future Prospects .....	111	3 A Minimum Core Right to Social Cash Benefits?.....	181
Chapter 6. The Right to Housing Under the ECHR .....	113	4 Social Cash Benefits as Rights Protected Under Article 6.....	183
1 Housing as a Cross Cutting Issue .....	113	5 Social Cash Benefits Under Article 8 .....	188
2 The Relevant Provisions .....	114	6 Social Cash Benefits as Property Rights .....	190
3 A State Obligation to Provide for (lawful) Housing? .....	115	6.1 Initial Remarks .....	190
4 The Right to Housing and the Principle of Non-Discrimination .....	125	6.2 Social Cash Benefits and the Issue of Discrimination .....	192
5 Protection of Housing Rights by Means of Restriction of Other’s Rights .....	127	6.3 Social Cash Benefits as Property Rights – Further Reflections.....	203
5.1 Initial Remarks .....	127	7 Future Prospects .....	206
5.2 Case Law Under Article 8 and Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 .....	129	Chapter 9. Work-Related Rights Under the ECHR .....	209
5.3 Margin of Appreciation – Article 8 and Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 .....	137	1 Work-Related Rights as Cross-Cutting Issues .....	209
5.4 The Character of the Derivative Protection Under Article 8 and Article 1 of Protocol No. 1 .....	138	2 The Relevant Provisions.....	210
6 Demolition of Homes .....	139	3 Access to Work? .....	211
7 Eviction and Illegal Occupation of Homes .....	142	4 Protection Against Dismissal.....	216
7.1 Examples from Cyprus .....	142	4.1 Initial Remarks .....	216
7.2 Examples from Croatia .....	145

4.2 Homosexuality and the Right to Work .....	217	3 Overlapping Protection between the ECHR and the ESC/RESC .....	300
4.3 Freedom of Speech, Association, Religion and the Right to Work .....	219	3.1 Introductory Remarks .....	300
5 The Rights of the Self-Employed .....	222	3.2 Work-Related Rights .....	301
6 Claims for Salary .....	225	3.3 The Right to Education .....	304
7 Occupational Issues and the Application of Article 6 .....	226	4 Civil-Political Dominance in Socio-Economic Rights .....	307
8 'Negative' Freedom of Association and the Right to Work .....	233	4.1 Initial Remarks .....	307
9 A Right to Collective Bargaining Under the ECHR? .....	241	4.2 Corporal Punishment of Children .....	308
10 A Right to Collective Action Under the ECHR? .....	246	4.3 Conscientious Objectors and Forced Labour .....	312
11 Other Issues Relating to Freedom of Association .....	249	5 Closing Remarks .....	315
12 Future Prospects .....	253	Chapter 12. Concluding Forward-looking Observations .....	317
Chapter 10. Socio-Economic Demands as Justiciable Rights – The Issue of Power Balance .....	255	1 Initial Remarks .....	317
1 Initial Remarks .....	255	2 Returning to the Issue about the Added Value of Hermeneutics .....	318
2 Division of (democratic) Powers at the Domestic Level .....	257	3 A Protocol to the ECHR Concerning Socio-Economic Rights – Historical Remarks .....	321
2.1 Initial Remarks .....	257	4 Considerations on a Protocol to the ECHR about Socio-Economic Rights .....	324
2.2 Judicial Review of the Application of Legal Provisions Worded Precisely and as Individual Rights .....	258	5 Final Remarks .....	326
2.3 Judicial Review of the Application of Vague Legal Standards .....	259	European Court of Human Rights: List of Judgments .....	327
2.4 Judicial Review of the Human Rights Compliance of Statutory Provisions .....	265	European Court of Human Rights: List of Admissibility Decisions .....	335
2.4.1 Initial Remarks .....	265	The European Committee on Social Rights: List of Decisions .....	337
2.4.2 A Representative Basis for Judicial Review .....	265	Bibliography .....	339
2.4.3 Institutional Dialogue as Legitimising Judicial Review .....	268	Index .....	345
2.4.4 Democracy and Human Rights – A Substantial Concept of Democracy .....	270
3 The ECHR as the Custodian of Substantial Democracy .....	274
4 Justiciable Socio-Economic Elements of Human Rights .....	280
4.1 Introductory Remarks .....	280
4.2 From 'Rechtsstaat' Paradigm to Welfare State Paradigm .....	281
4.3 Identification of Possible Justiciable Socio-Economic Elements .....	282
Chapter 11. The Relation between the ECHR and the ESC/RESC .....	291
1 Initial Remarks .....	291
2 The ECSR's Style of Interpretation .....	292		